MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

In her First Amended Complaint (“FAC”), Plaintiff Amanda Hill (“Plaintiff” or “Hill”) alleges that Quicken Loans Inc. (“Quicken Loans”) violated the cell phone provision of the Telephone Consumer Protection Act (“TCPA”), 47 U.S.C. § 227(b), by texting her without her consent. As demonstrated below, Plaintiff’s claim should be compelled to arbitration because it is subject to a binding and enforceable arbitration agreement.<sup>1</sup>

Although Plaintiff does not identify the challenged texts by date, time, or content, two screen shots in the Complaint suggest that they were received between October 22, 2018, and November 23, 2018. The record evidence that Quicken Loans submits with this Motion demonstrates that these texts were sent in response to Hill’s multiple requests for and consents to them made through electronic submissions by Hill in October and November 2018 requesting mortgage loan information from Quicken Loans (and others). As part of these submissions, Hill agreed, among other things, to arbitrate all claims against LMB Mortgage Services, Inc. d/b/a LowerMyBills.com (“LMB”) and its affiliates arising out of her submissions. Hill violated that agreement by filing this putative, nationwide class action lawsuit against Quicken Loans—an LMB affiliate—about text messages sent by it in response to Hill’s requests. Pursuant to well-established Ninth Circuit precedent and the Federal Arbitration Act (“FAA”) (9 U.S.C. § 1, et seq.), this Court should foreclose that violation, enforce the agreement, and compel Hill’s individual claim to arbitration. See AT&T Mobility LLC v. Concepcion, 563 U.S. 333, 1745–

<sup>1</sup> Without prejudice to this Motion, Quicken Loans also has contemporaneously moved to dismiss Hill’s (and the other plaintiff’s) claims pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6).

II. BACKGROUND

A. QUICKEN LOANS AND LMB ARE AFFILIATED COMPANIES.

As part of its business in offering clients and potential clients residential mortgage products, Quicken Loans—a fourteen-time J.D. Power award winner for client satisfaction in mortgage origination and servicing—contacts individuals in various ways when those individuals have expressed an interest in and consented to being contacted by Quicken Loans to learn more about its mortgage products and services. While many of these individuals come to Quicken Loans directly (through QuickenLoans.com, or by calling the Company’s direct-line), others express their interest and provide their consent to be contacted by Quicken Loans through a variety of channels, including websites run by or associated with LMB. Luthra Decl. ¶ 3. LMB and Quicken Loans are affiliated companies, which share the same parent company, Rock Holdings, Inc. Viner Decl. ¶ 2.

LMB, through its website LowerMyBills.com, as well as associated websites such as YourVASurvey.Info, operates a free online service for consumers seeking home mortgage and refinance loans. Id. For consumers who voluntarily navigate to these websites and enter various pieces of information about themselves—such as their property address, phone number, e-mail address, estimated home value, current interest rate, and amount of debt—LMB will match and refer consumers to Quicken <sup>2</sup> While this Motion is directed to Hill’s individual claim in this lawsuit, Quicken Loans expressly reserves its rights (i) to compel arbitration of the claims of some or all of the members of any class that may be certified in this action, and (ii) to demonstrate that arbitration agreements and class action waivers operate to preclude putative class members from participating in this lawsuit as class members or otherwise. These and other similar issues are premature at this initial stage of the litigation, where no class has been certified and plaintiff has not filed any motion for class certification. “[P]utative class members are not parties to an action prior to class certification.” In re TFT-LCD (Flat Panel) Antitrust Litig., No. M 07-1827 SI, 2011 WL 1753784, at *4 (N.D. Cal. May 9, 2011). Therefore, a motion to compel arbitration concerning putative class members’ claims is premature at this stage of the litigation. See id.

Loans and other mortgage loan providers. Id. ¶ 3. To avail themselves of this free referral service, consumers must, among other things, first agree to be bound by LMB’s Terms of Use. Id. LMB’s Terms of Use provide for, among other things, mandatory arbitration of all claims, disputes, and controversies with LMB and its affiliates arising from or relating to the use of LMB’s services, including claims alleging violations of federal statutes like the TCPA. Id. Ex. 3 at ¶ 2.

B. ON OCTOBER 10, 2018, HILL AGREED TO ARBITRATE ANY CLAIMS AGAINST QUICKEN LOANS.

Hill owns a home located at 35312 Frederick Street, Wildomar, California 92595 (the “Property”). Tayman Decl. Ex. 1. When Hill purchased the property in February 2017, she took out a mortgage loan from Quicken Loans in the amount of $349,900. Luthra Decl. ¶ 7. She refinanced that mortgage on October 24, 2017, with a $352,600 loan from IMPAC Mortgage Corp. Tayman Decl. Ex. 1.

On October 10, 2018, at 10:21:49 PM PST, Hill visited YourVASurvey.Info, a website powered by LMB, seeking mortgage loan refinance information for the Property. Viner Decl. ¶ 17. Hill entered her information, including the telephone number (951) 813-9785 and the address 35312 Frederick Street, Wildomar, California 92595. Id. The telephone number Hill entered into the website has the same last four digits—9785—as the telephone number that Hill alleges in her Complaint belongs to her. FAC ¶ 13. And the property address that Hill entered is the address for the Property, which public records indicate that Hill owned at the time. Tayman Decl. Ex. 1.

Based on Hill’s answers to preliminary questions on YourVASurvey.Info, the website engaged LMB’s matching engine, which resulted in LMB’s disclosures, Terms of Use, and Privacy Policy being presented to Hill during the information entry process. Viner Decl. ¶ 17. After entering her information into YourVASurvey.Info, Hill clicked a button which said “See my results!” Immediately below that button, which was clearly visible to Hill before she clicked on it, was language affirming that “[b]y clicking the button . . . [Hill] express[ed]

[her] understanding and consent, electronically via E-Sign,” to the following:

1. “To be matched with, and contacted by, up to 5 participants in the LMB Provider Network<sup>3</sup> about mortgage and financial services products, and consent (not required as a condition to purchase a good/service) for us and them to contact you (including through automated or prerecorded means) via telephone at the phone number provided above, on mobile devices (including SMS and MMS), and email, even if you are on a corporate, state or national Do Not call Registry. As an alternative, you may contact us by email at customercare@coredigital.com.”

2. “To the LMB Lending Terms of Use, Privacy Policy, and Consent to Doing Business Electronically.”

Id. ¶ 8. The words “Terms of Use” and “Privacy Policy” were hyperlinks that were underlined and appeared in blue text. Id. ¶ 11, Ex. 1. Clicking on the words “Terms of Use” takes the consumer to LMB’s full-text Terms of Use, which, if Hill had done, would have allowed her to review the complete LMB Terms of Use before she assented to those terms. Id. ¶ 11.

By using LMB’s free service and clicking the “See my results!” button, Hill agreed to LMB’s Terms of Use, which disclosed in the introductory paragraph:

[P]lease take a moment to review this Terms of Use Agreement (“Agreement”). The Agreement describes the terms and conditions applicable to your use of the LMB Website and the products and services provided through or in connection with the LMB Website.

Id. Ex. 3.

<sup>3</sup> This language was hyperlinked to a list identifying Quicken Loans as one of the lenders in the “LMB Provider Network.” Viner Decl. ¶ 9.

1 By agreeing to the Terms of Use, Hill again confirmed her written consent “to 2 be contacted by,” among others, “Quicken Loans . . . either by telephone (on a 3 recorded line), automated calling, on a mobile device, via email or mail, based on 4 the information [Hill] provided to [LMB], even if [she had] opted into the National 5 Do Not Call List administered by the Federal Trade Commission, any state
6 equivalent Do Not Call List, or the Do Not Call List of an internal company.” Id.
7 ¶ 22 & Ex. 3 at ¶ 1 (emphasis added).

8 And, as relevant to this Motion, Hill also agreed to the following arbitration
9 provision in the Terms of Use:

10 2. ARBITRATION. YOU UNDERSTAND AND AGREE
11 THAT ALL CLAIMS, DISPUTES OR CONTROVERSIES
12 BETWEEN YOU AND LMB, AND ITS PARENTS,
13 AFFILIATES, SUBSIDIARIES OR RELATED
14 COMPANIES, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO TORT 15 AND CONTRACT CLAIMS, CLAIMS BASED UPON ANY 16 FEDERAL, STATE OR LOCAL STATUTE, LAW,
17 ORDER, ORDINANCE OR REGULATION, AND THE 18 ISSUE OF ARBITRABILITY, SHALL BE RESOLVED BY 19 FINAL AND BINDING ARBITRATION AT A LOCATION
20 DETERMINED BY THE ARBITRATOR. ANY
21 CONTROVERSY CONCERNING WHETHER A
22 DISPUTE IS ARBITRABLE SHALL BE DETERMINED
23 BY THE ARBITRATOR AND NOT BY THE COURT.
24 JUDGMENT UPON ANY AWARD RENDERED BY THE 25 ARBITRATOR MAY BE ENTERED BY ANY STATE OR 26 FEDERAL COURT HAVING JURISDICTION THEREOF.
27 THIS ARBITRATION CONTRACT IS MADE PURSUANT 28 TO A TRANSACTION IN INTERSTATE COMMERCE AND

1 ITS INTERPRETATION, APPLICATION, ENFORCEMENT
2 AND PROCEEDINGS HEREUNDER SHALL BE
3 GOVERNED BY THE FEDERAL ARBITRATION ACT
4 (“FAA”). NEITHER YOU NOR LMB SHALL BE 5 ENTITLED TO JOIN OR CONSOLIDATE CLAIMS IN 6 ARBITRATION BY OR AGAINST OTHER
7 CONSUMERS OR ARBITRATE ANY CLAIM AS A
8 REPRESENTATIVE OR MEMBER OF A CLASS OR IN 9 A PRIVATE ATTORNEY GENERAL CAPACITY. THE 10 PARTIES VOLUNTARILY AND KNOWINGLY WAIVE
11 ANY RIGHT THEY HAVE TO A JURY TRIAL.

12 Id. ¶ 23 & Ex. 3 at ¶ 2 (emphases added). These terms were clearly presented in all 13 capital letters to highlight their importance. In other words, Hill agreed to arbitrate
14 the precise federal statutory claims she purports to assert here against Quicken 15 Loans—LMB’s affiliate—arising from her use of LMB’s services. This was not, 16 however, Hill’s only agreement to arbitrate such claims.

17 C. ON NOVEMBER 12, 2018, HILL AGAIN AGREED TO ARBITRATE ANY 18 CLAIMS AGAINST QUICKEN LOANS.

19 On November 12, 2018, at 12:12:11 PM PST, Hill once again visited a 20 website owned by or associated with LMB—this time, LowerMyBills.com. Id.
21 ¶ 19. As she had visited an LMB-associated website less than 60 days earlier, her 22 contact information was still saved in LMB’s systems. Id. ¶ 20. This information 23 was populated into LMB’s submission form and Hill was asked to select the 24 “Purpose of Refinance.” Id. ¶ 20. Once she did so, Hill was presented with and 25 selected a button to “Calculate [Her] FREE Results.” Id. ¶ 16. As with her October 26 submission, immediately below that button was language affirming that “[b]y 27 clicking the button above, [Hill] express[ed] [her] understanding and consent” to, 28

1 among other things, LMB's Terms of Use, including the same arbitration provision
2 as she had agreed to the previous month. Id. ¶ 15.

3 D. THE CHALLENGED TEXTS.

4 In each instance following Hill's use of LMB's services and agreement to its 5 Terms of Use, LMB provided Quicken Loans with the information Hill had entered 6 on the websites owned by or associated with LMB. Id. ¶¶ 18, 21. After receiving
7 this information from LMB, Quicken Loans, in turn, contacted Hill by text. Luthra
8 Decl. ¶ 10. Now, Hill purports to sue Quicken Loans about the subject texts arising 9 from her repeated use of LMB's services to request mortgage loan information.

10 E. THE LAWSUIT.

11 On January 28, 2019, despite having agreed to arbitrate her disputes with 12 Quicken Loans on an individual (non-class) basis, Hill filed a class action complaint 13 in this Court alleging violations of the cellphone provision of the TCPA (47 U.S.C.
14 § 227(b)(1)(A)(iii)). Thereafter, on April 1, 2019, Hill filed a First Amended
15 Complaint asserting TCPA claims on behalf of herself and a putative, nationwide 16 class. She claims that, by sending text messages to her purported cell phone in 17 response to her submissions on websites owned by or associated with LMB, 18 Quicken Loans violated the cellphone provision of the TCPA because the texts were 19 purportedly sent using an ATDS without Hill's consent. FAC ¶¶ 14–19. Her claim 20 should be compelled to arbitration.

21 III. ARGUMENT

22 A. LEGAL STANDARD.

23 The FAA provides that a written arbitration provision contained in a "contract 24 evidencing a transaction involving commerce . . . shall be valid, irrevocable and 25 enforceable, save upon such grounds as exist at law or in equity for the revocation of 26 any contract." 9 U.S.C. § 2. The FAA reflects both a "liberal federal policy 27 favoring arbitration, and the fundamental principle that arbitration is a matter of 28 contract." AT&T Mobility LLC v. Concepcion, 563 U.S. 333, 1745 (2011) (citations

1 and internal quotation marks omitted). In passing the FAA, Congress established a 2 strong federal policy in favor of arbitration, “notwithstanding any state substantive 3 or procedural policies to the contrary.” Moses H. Cone Mem’l Hosp. v. Mercury
4 Constr. Corp., 460 U.S. 1, 24 (1983); see also Bennett v. Liberty Nat’l Fire Ins. Co.,
5 968 F.2d 969, 971 (9th Cir. 1992). In short, the Supreme Court mandates that 6 federal courts are required to “rigorously enforce agreements to arbitrate,” Dean
7 Witter Reynolds, Inc. v. Byrd, 470 U.S. 213, 221 (1985), and “as a matter of federal 8 law, any doubts concerning the scope of arbitrable issues should be resolved in favor
9 of arbitration . . . .” Moses, 460 U.S. at 24–25. Enforcement of arbitration 10 provisions under the FAA is not limited to signatories. Non-signatories may also 11 enforce an arbitration agreement as third-party beneficiaries, or under the principles 12 of equitable estoppel. Murphy v. DirecTV, Inc., 724 F.3d 1218, 1229 (9th Cir.
13 2012); see Comer v. Micor, Inc., 436 F.3d 1098, 1101 (9th Cir. 2006). Application
14 of these well-established standards here demonstrates that Hill’s individual claim
15 should be compelled to arbitration.

16 B. A VALID ARBITRATION AGREEMENT EXISTS THAT REQUIRES HILL
17 TO ARBITRATE HER CLAIMS AGAINST QUICKEN LOANS.

18 The record evidence demonstrates that Hill entered (twice) into a valid and 19 enforceable arbitration agreement when she voluntarily used LMB’s services to 20 request information about a mortgage loan. Quicken Loans need only prove “the 21 existence of an agreement to arbitrate by a preponderance of the evidence.”
22 Knutson v. Sirius XM Radio Inc., 771 F.3d 559, 565 (9th Cir. 2014). “While new 23 commerce on the Internet has exposed courts to many new situations, it has not 24 fundamentally changed the principles of contract.” Nguyen v. Barnes & Noble, Inc., 25 763 F.3d 1171, 1175 (9th Cir. 2014). “[U]nder California law, mutual assent is a 26 required element of contract formation.” Knutson, 771 F.3d at 565. “Mutual assent 27 may be manifested by written or spoken words, or by conduct, . . . and acceptance of 28

1 contract terms may be implied through action or inaction.” Id. (internal citations
2 and quotation marks omitted).

3 Internet agreements, such as the LMB Terms of Use, are enforceable where:
4 (i) ”the user is required to affirmatively acknowledge the agreement before
5 proceeding with use of the website,” or (ii) ”the website puts a reasonably prudent
6 user on inquiry notice of the terms of the contract,” which “depends on the design
7 and content of the website and the agreement’s webpage.” Nguyen, 763 F.3d at 8 1176–77. Under California law, “it is essentially irrelevant whether a party actually 9 reads [a] contract or not” in determining whether a valid contract exists, “so long as 10 the individual had a legitimate opportunity to review it.” Mohamed v. Uber Techs., 11 Inc., No. C-14-5200, 2015 WL 3749716, at *7 (N.D. Cal. June 9, 2015), rev’d in 12 part on other grounds, 848 F.3d 1201 (9th Cir. 2016) (citations omitted).

13 In this case, Hill twice affirmatively acknowledged her agreement to LMB’s 14 Terms of Use, including the mandatory arbitration provision, to use LMB’s services.
15 First, on October 10, 2018, at 10:21 PM PST, Hill visited LMB’s associated 16 website, YourVASurvey.Info, and selected the “See my results!” button to confirm 17 her agreement to LMB’s Terms of Use. Viner Decl. ¶ 17. Indeed, the relevant 18 evidence demonstrates that (i) the telephone number entered as part of that 19 submission ((951) 813-9785) has the same last four digits as the telephone number 20 Hill alleges, in the FAC, is her number and the one at which she received the 21 challenged texts from Quicken Loans (Id. ¶ 17; FAC ¶ 13); (ii) the address 22 information entered (35312 Frederick Street, Wildomar, California 92595) is the 23 address for the property which publicly-available records confirm Hill owned at the 24 time (Viner Decl. ¶ 17; Tayman Decl. Ex. 1); and (iii) the submission contained a 25 “yes” answer to the question asking whether Hill or her spouse had served in the 26 military, where documents submitted with Hill’s prior loan application confirm that 27 she is a veteran of the U.S. Navy (Viner Decl. ¶ 17; Luthra Decl. ¶ 8). The 28 preponderance of the evidence is thus that, on October 10, 2018, Hill visited an

1 LMB-associated website, YourVASurvey.Info, entered her information, and clicked
2 the “See my results!” button to confirm, her agreement to, among other things, the 3 mandatory arbitration provision in LMB’s Terms of Use.

4 Second, on November 12, 2018, at 12:12 PM PST, Hill again navigated to a 5 website owned by or associated with LMB, LowerMyBills.com, where she was 6 greeted with a “Welcome Back” message. Viner Decl. ¶¶ 13, 19, 20. At that time, 7 she provided additional information regarding the purpose of her refinance, and 8 clicked on the “Calculate Your FREE Results!” button to affirmatively confirm 9 (again) her agreement to, among other things, the mandatory arbitration provision in 10 LMB’s Terms of Use. Id. ¶¶ 13, 20.

11 Courts within the Ninth Circuit consistently have held that acknowledgement 12 on a website of the type that Hill made in each of her visits to websites owned by or 13 associated with LMB results in a valid contract. Indeed, the LMB Terms of Use 14 were upheld and enforced in Rodriguez v. Experian Servs. Corp., No. 2:15-cv-
15 03553-R-MRW, ECF No. 43 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 5, 2015), where this Court compelled 16 arbitration based on this same agreement and the consumer’s agreement to it by 17 clicking the “Click to See Your FREE Results” button on LMB’s website.

18 Other courts have reached the same enforceability conclusion when 19 considering similar arbitration agreements and website terms of use. In Graf v.
20 Match.com, LLC, No. 15-cv-3911-PA-MRWx, 2015 WL 4263957 (C.D. Cal. July 21 10, 2015), for example, this Court ruled that website users agreed to an arbitration 22 provision in the Terms of Use “when they clicked on a ‘Continue’ or other similar 23 button on the registration page where it was explained that by clicking on that 24 button, the user was affirming that they would be bound by the Terms of Use, which 25 were always hyperlinked and available for review.” Id. at *4. Likewise, in 26 Crawford v. Beachbody, LLC, No. 14-cv-1583-GPC-KSC, 2014 WL 6606563 (S.D.
27 Cal. Nov. 5, 2014), the district court reached the same result in finding the plaintiff
28 had agreed to a forum selection clause found in a website’s Terms and Conditions.

1 There, like here, the plaintiff “had to click an orange button that read ‘PLACE
2 ORDER,’” above which was the following text: “By clicking Place Order below,
3 you are agreeing that you have read and understand the Beachbody Purchase Terms
4 and Conditions, and Team Beachbody Terms and Conditions.” Id. at *3; see also
5 Tompkins v. 23andMe, Inc., No. 5:13-cv-05682-LHK, 2014 WL 2903752, at *7–9
6 (N.D. Cal. June 25, 2014) (“Plaintiffs received adequate notice regarding the”
7 Terms of Service when “each named Plaintiff clicked a box or button that appeared
8 near a hyperlink to the [Terms of Service] to indicate acceptance”), aff’d, 840 F.3d
9 1016 (9th Cir. 2016); Fteja v. Facebook, Inc., 841 F. Supp. 2d 829, 834–40
10 (S.D.N.Y. 2012) (user assented to a forum selection clause in the Terms and 11 Services when he clicked “Sign Up,” which was followed by the notice that, “By 12 clicking Sign Up, you are indicating that you have read and agree to the Terms of 13 Service,” which were hyperlinked).

14 The same conclusions apply with equal force here. LMB’s Terms of Use 15 were hyperlinked and expressly referenced in the acknowledgment at the end of the 16 information entry process on both the YourVASurvey.Info and LowerMyBills.com 17 websites, and the acknowledgment made clear to Hill that by clicking the “See my 18 results!” and “Calculate Your FREE Results!” buttons, she agreed to the Terms of 19 Use. Viner Decl. ¶¶ 10, 15 & Ex. 1–2.

20 Thus, it is beyond genuine dispute that Hill agreed to the Terms of Use, as she 21 “had the opportunity to review the relevant terms of the hyperlinked agreements, 22 and the existence of the relevant contracts was made conspicuous.” See Mohamed, 23 2015 WL 3749716, at *7. She was “required to affirmatively acknowledge the 24 agreement before proceeding with use of” LMB’s free online referral service.
25 Nguyen, 763 F.3d at 1176–77. She was also “on inquiry notice of the terms of the 26 contract” because “the design and content of the website and the agreement’s
27 webpage” expressly disclosed the Terms of Use in advance and made them available 28 to Hill for review by hyperlink before she chose to use LMB’s services. Id.

1 Therefore, Hill agreed to be bound by the Terms of Use, including the agreement to 2 arbitrate all disputes against LMB and its affiliates arising from or related to her use
3 of LMB's services.

4 C. QUICKEN LOANS IS ENTITLED TO ENFORCE THE ARBITRATION
5 AGREEMENT.

6 "The United States Supreme Court has held that a litigant who is not a party
7 to an arbitration agreement may invoke arbitration under the FAA if the relevant 8 state contract law allows the litigant to enforce the agreement." Kramer v. Toyota 9 Motor Corp., 705 F.3d 1122, 1128 (9th Cir. 2013) (citing Arthur Andersen LLP v.
10 Carlisle, 556 U.S. 624, 632 (2009)). Here, California law applies as the Terms of 11 Use, including the agreement to arbitrate, were entered into in California. Viner
12 Decl. Ex. 3 at ¶ 2. California law allows nonsignatories to enforce an arbitration 13 agreement against a signatory as a third-party beneficiary, or pursuant to equitable 14 estoppel principles. See Gilbert v. Bank of Am., No. C 13-01171 JSW, 2015 WL
15 12953229, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 12, 2015); Nguyen v. Tran, 157 Cal. App. 4th 1032, 16 1036–37 (2007). Both of these enforcement grounds apply to Quicken Loans here.
17 First, Quicken Loans—which is an LMB affiliate and was expressly identified in the 18 Terms of Use—is an intended beneficiary of the agreement between LMB and Hill.
19 And, second, Hill should be estopped from bringing her claim in court, as issues 20 regarding her consent to be contacted are fully intertwined with the Terms of Use in 21 which she agreed to arbitrate all such disputes.

22 1. Quicken Loans Is A Third-Party Beneficiary.

23 Quicken Loans is entitled to enforce the arbitration agreement against Hill as 24 a third-party beneficiary of the agreement between Hill and LMB. See Comer, 436
25 F.3d at 1101 ("[N]on-signatories can enforce arbitration agreements as third party 26 beneficiaries."). A nonsignatory may assert rights as a third-party beneficiary "if the 27 parties to the agreement intended the contract to benefit the third party." Murphy, 28 724 F.3d at 1234.

1 Here, the Terms of Use were expressly intended to benefit Quicken Loans.
2 The arbitration agreement in the LMB Terms of Use requires arbitration of “all
3 claims, disputes or controversies between you and LMB, and its . . . affiliates, 4 subsidiaries, or related companies.” Viner Decl. ¶ 23 & Ex. 3 (emphases added).
5 This language is unambiguous—the parties clearly intended that the arbitration
6 agreement would benefit not only LMB, but all of its affiliates and related 7 companies. Quicken Loans is such a company because it is an LMB affiliate and 8 shares the same parent company as LMB, Rock Holdings, Inc. Id. ¶ 2. See Lei v.
9 Amway Corp., No. CV 14-04022-RGK (AGRx), 2014 WL 12596787 (C.D. Cal.
10 July 23, 2014) (finding that non-signatories were intended third-party beneficiaries
11 where arbitration provision applied to disputes involving independent business
12 owners and therefore “evinces an intent to include claims against third-party 13 [independent business owners]”); see also Gomez v. MasTec North Am, Inc., 284 F.
14 App’x 517, 519–20 (9th Cir. 2008) (holding that indemnification provision barred 15 claims against affiliate who had the same parent company); Sun Moon Star
16 Advanced Power, Inc. v. Chappell, 773 F. Supp. 1373, 1376 (N.D. Cal. 1990) (“[A] 17 determination of whether companies are affiliates depends upon finding that the 18 companies are owned by the exact same individuals.”); Affiliate Definition, Black’s
19 Law Dictionary (10th ed. 2014) (“A corporation that is related to another 20 corporation by shareholdings or other means of control; a subsidiary, parent, or 21 sibling corporation.”).

22 The conclusion that Quicken Loans is an intended third-party beneficiary of 23 the arbitration agreement is bolstered by the fact that Quicken Loans is expressly 24 identified as part of the LMB Provider Network and in the Terms of Use as an entity
25 which may contact Plaintiff with mortgage loan information. Viner Decl. ¶ 22 &
26 Ex. 3. Where the Plaintiff’s claims arise from her use of LMB’s services and 27 LMB’s website and Terms of Use expressly disclosed that its affiliate, Quicken 28 Loans, may provide information in connection with the LMB services agreed to and requested by Plaintiff, there can be no real dispute that the arbitration provision was intended to (and expressly does) benefit Quicken Loans. See, e.g., Ege v. Express Messenger Sys. Inc., 745 F. App'x 19, 20 (9th Cir. 2018) (district court correctly found defendant to be third-party beneficiary where “[plaintiffs’] performance under the agreements necessarily and directly benefited [defendant]”); Labajo v First Int’l Bank & Trust, No. EDCV-14-00627, 2014 WL 4090527, at *7 (C.D. Cal. July 9, 2014) (where plaintiffs authorized “servicer, agent, or affiliate” to take certain actions, defendant “was a clearly contemplated third-party beneficiary, either as a servicer or an agent”).

As it is an actual and intended third-party beneficiary of the arbitration agreement between LMB and Hill, Quicken Loans is entitled to enforce that agreement. See Ege, 745 F. App'x at 20.

2. Hill Is Estopped From Denying Application Of The Agreement.

Quicken Loans is also entitled to enforce the arbitration agreement under the principles of equitable estoppel. A nonsignatory may enforce an arbitration agreement “when a signatory must rely on the terms of the written agreement in asserting its claims against the nonsignatory or the claims are intimately founded in and intertwined with the underlying contract.” Kramer v. Toyota Motor Corp., 705 F.3d 1122, 1128–29 (9th Cir. 2013) (emphasis added).

Here, Hill’s TCPA claim against Quicken Loans is “intimately founded in and intertwined with” her use of LMB’s services, consent to calls from Quicken Loans, and agreement to LMB’s Terms of Use. Hill twice gave her consent to be contacted by Quicken Loans by phone, text, email, or mail. See supra II.B–C. She now claims that Quicken Loans contacted her “without [her] prior express written consent.” FAC ¶ 14. Resolution of Hill’s claims thus necessarily requires this Court to consider questions that are “intimately . . . intertwined” with Hill’s agreements to LMB’s TCPA consent disclosures on the LMB-owned or -associated

1 websites and in LMB's Terms of Use, including the question of whether Hill
2 consented to be contacted. Hill's TCPA claims, therefore, cannot be separated from 3 the Terms of Use, and the arbitration provision in the Terms of Use must be 4 enforced. See Sunkist Soft Drinks, Inc. v. Sunkist Growers, Inc., 10 F.3d 753, 758
5 (11th Cir. 1993) ("The nexus between Sunkist's claims and the license agreement, 6 as well as the integral relationship between SSD and Del Monte, leads us to the 7 conclusion that the claims are 'intimately founded in and intertwined with' the 8 license agreement." (internal citation omitted)); see also Thomson-CSF, S.A. v. Am.
9 Arbitration Ass'n, 64 F.3d 773, 779 (2d Cir. 1995) (collecting cases where "a 10 signatory was bound to arbitrate with a nonsignatory at the nonsignatory's insistence 11 because of 'the close relationship between the entities involved, as well as the 12 relationship of the alleged wrongs to the nonsignatory's obligations and duties in the 13 contract . . . and [the fact that] the claims were 'intimately founded in and 14 intertwined with the underlying contract obligations.'" (internal citation omitted)).

15 Further, the arbitration agreement should be enforced as a matter of equity.
16 Hill received the benefits of her agreement with LMB. After submitting her 17 information, and consistent with LMB's disclosure about its services, Hill was 18 matched with providers of mortgage services and received mortgage loan refinance 19 information. Viner Decl. ¶¶ 18, 21. Hill cannot take advantage of the benefits of 20 contracting with LMB, but then seek to avoid the arbitration agreement. See Comer, 21 436 F.3d at 1101 ("Equitable estoppel precludes a party from claiming the benefits
22 of a contract while simultaneously attempting to avoid the burdens that contract 23 imposes.").

24 D. HILL'S DISPUTE IS COVERED BY THE ARBITRATION AGREEMENT.

25 Under the express terms of the arbitration agreement, it is not this Court's role
26 to determine the arbitrability of Hill's TCPA claim. Instead, the Terms of Use 27 require that "ANY CONTROVERSY CONCERNING WHETHER A DISPUTE IS 28 ARBITRABLE SHALL BE DETERMINED BY THE ARBITRATOR AND NOT

1 BY THE COURT.” Viner Decl. Ex. 3 at ¶ 2. As a matter of law, when the parties 2 have contracted to delegate the arbitrability determination to an arbitrator, courts are 3 not permitted to “short-circuit the process and decide the arbitrability question
4 themselves.” Henry Schein, Inc. v. Archer & White Sales, Inc., 139 S Ct. 524, 527–
5 28 (2019). Therefore, because there is a valid arbitration agreement that Quicken 6 Loans is entitled to enforce, this Court should compel arbitration and permit the 7 arbitrator to resolve any disputes about arbitrability.

8 Even assuming, alternatively, that this Court may properly consider the 9 arbitrability question, the arbitration agreement confirms that it “encompasses the 10 dispute at issue.” See Chiron Corp. v. Ortho Diagnostic Sys., Inc., 207 F.3d 1126, 11 1130 (9th Cir. 2000). That provision broadly covers “ALL CLAIMS, DISPUTES
12 OR CONTROVERSIES BETWEEN YOU AND LMB, AND ITS PARENTS, 13 AFFILIATES, SUBSIDIARIES OR RELATED COMPANIES, INCLUDING BUT 14 NOT LIMITED TO TORT AND CONTRACT CLAIMS, CLAIMS BASED UPON
15 ANY FEDERAL, STATE OR LOCAL STATUTE, LAW, ORDER, ORDINANCE
16 OR REGULATION.” Viner Decl. Ex. 3 at ¶ 2. Agreements to arbitrate “[a]ny 17 dispute, controversy or claim” are “broad and far reaching,” Chiron, 207 F.3d at 18 1131. Moreover, “as a matter of federal law, any doubts concerning the scope of 19 arbitrable issues should be resolved in favor of arbitration.” Moses, 460 U.S. at 24–
20 25. Hill’s TCPA claim against an LMB affiliate and related entity falls squarely 21 within this broad agreement to arbitrate “ALL CLAIMS,” including federal 22 statutory claims against LMB and its affiliates. See Mohamed, 2015 WL 3749716, 23 at *12 (“[T]he party opposing arbitration . . . bears the burden of proving any 24 defense.”). In fact, Hill’s claims arise out of and relate to her use of LMB’s services
25 and Quicken Loans’ text messages to her purported cell phone as a result of that use.
26 Under these circumstances, there is no question that Hill’s claims fall within the 27 scope of her arbitration agreement.
28

1           E.     ARBITRATION SHOULD PROCEED ON AN INDIVIDUAL BASIS.

2           Hill must be compelled to arbitrate her TCPA claim on an individual basis.
3           The October and November 2018 Terms of Use Hill agreed to explicitly state:
4           “NEITHER YOU NOR LMB SHALL BE ENTITLED TO JOIN OR 5           CONSOLIDATE CLAIMS IN ARBITRATION BY OR AGAINST OTHER
6           CONSUMERS OR ARBITRATE ANY CLAIM AS A REPRESENTATIVE OR 7           MEMBER OF A CLASS.” Viner Decl. Ex. 3. Such class waivers in arbitration
8           provisions are enforceable. See Murphy, 724 F.3d at 1225–26 (“Importantly, the 9           FAA meant what the [Supreme] Court in Concepcion says it means—that the 10          Customer Agreement’s class waiver is enforceable . . . .” (citing Concepcion, 563
11          U.S. at 1748)); Sanchez v. Valencia Holding Co., LLC, 190 Cal. Rptr. 3d 812, 820 12          (2015) (reversing the judgment of the Court of Appeals because “the FAA requires
13          enforcement of class waivers in consumer arbitration agreements and preempts state
14          law to the contrary”). And there is no reason Hill’s waivers should not be enforced
15          here. Accordingly, the Court should compel individual arbitration of Hill’s claims.

16           F.     THE COURT SHOULD STAY THIS ACTION.

17          Because Hill’s TCPA claim is subject to contractual arbitration, this Court
18          should stay all proceedings that relate to her individual claims, pending arbitration
19          under 9 U.S.C. § 3. Martin Marietta Aluminum, Inc. v. Gen. Elec. Co., 586 F.2d 20          143, 147–48 (9th Cir. 1978) (“The [Federal Arbitration] Act provides for a stay 21          pending compliance with a contractual arbitration clause.”).

1 IV. CONCLUSION

2 For all of the forgoing reasons, Quicken Loans respectfully requests that this 3 Court grant this Motion to Compel Arbitration and stay all proceedings on Hill's 4 individual claim.
